Description

Very beautiful console signed Marco de Gueltzl dating from the end of the 1980s, when the sculptor and designer from Roanne made a name for himself in France in Paris and in the United States. His work in glass and iron, with a technique of patterning the glass with acid and recovering iron to shape it, is quite remarkable and distinguished. The iron of the console is patinated like a bronze. The proportions are original and the piece in excellent condition. The glass of the top is corrugated on the edges using the technique of torn glass. Semi-industrial semi-organic iron base structure.
