Description

Louis XVI fireplace, marble: Brèche de Sanguine from Algeria. Fireplace-origin: France. In perfect condition. The vivid warm-red color of the rare Brèche de Sanguine marble provides a creative ambiance and will be a focal point in every room. A Louis XVI fireplace would fit well with most modern-room designs. The stepped breakfront shelf is resting above a paneled frieze, depicting a central foliate cartouche. The Paterae endblocks are of the same Acanthus-leaves. The height of this Louis XVI fireplace is more as usual: 121 cm (47.64 inch) and makes it a bit more elegant. This fireplace will be delivered with original, old Carrara marble tiles, to make a frontfloor. Worldwide deliveries. Delivery in Europe can be done by Antique Fireplaces First: "In House Delivery".
