Description

Valuable Emilian Louis XV console measuring 84 x 135 x 65 cm with delicate and intense carving; splendid Emilian console, with sinuous shapes and with a truly dynamic movement, in walnut and burr walnut from the first half of the 18th century

The console table, a graceful piece of furniture for rooms, living rooms and sitting rooms, often designed together with other furnishings such as chairs, sofas, armchairs and mirrors, takes on countless forms, all in any case linked to the unstable lightness of its serpentine line which declines the supple arching of the en cabriole supports capriciously contouring the surfaces whether they are in wood, marble or even painted

Important piece of furniture both for the material used and for its shape; thanks to it it can be easily placed in any part of the house, as long as there is space for a minimum of light, in fact the gilding and marble of this piece of furniture are able to give panache and dynamism to the room itself and also to other parts of the furniture.

The paintings and works of art published here are my exclusive property and therefore are always available to be viewed, by appointment, in my exhibition sites located in Sanremo and Brescia.
