Description

Superb and elegant pair of late 19th century watercolors. It represents for one an orientalist landscape where we see a person on a donkey in a decor of architecture and exotic plants. For the second the scene represents a farm with an animated scene of characters and animals. The set of 2 watercolors are from the same hands, there is great finesse in the drawings as well as in the details? The colors remained vivid and bright. The watercolor of the farm is dated 1870, they are presented in a gilded wooden frame.
