Description

.... and here, I expected, the white page syndrome.... Alien, as I baptized it, makes me shudder, so much so that my photographic development has been disturbed. I don't know how to define the character: at the same time emaciated, diabolical, from the imagination of its creator, seated or executing a leap of sheep, He has something of a gargoyle... and then see his back: the protruding vertebral column ending in a tip of a tail. To tell the truth, there's nothing human about him..... Don't you think he's sneering?
