Description

Very beautiful item. Resting on a three-legged base, the center of which is decorated with a flower, in which the pipe is positioned, thanks to an openwork strapping and a turned tip. The core, in coconut, is decorated with stylized rods made from brass, and the upper part has brass inlays, in the form of garlands of leaves and flowers in cartouches, with pewter inlays in the form of drops. The base of the furnace and the departure of the pipe, in bronze. Bears an old sales sticker, with the price of £2300. Condition: please look carefully at my detailed photos, they do not hide anything. Missing a brass rod, a nail which retains a second one, and some gaps in the openwork parts.
Oriental working, for which I cannot be more precise, dating from the 19th century or earlier!
