Description

Superb and imposing Renaissance style carved oak chest. It is very richly carved with pilasters with Ionic capitals in the 4 corners, side facades decorated with a rose window in the middle of a labyrinth of interlacing. The front face is surrounded by a thick frieze of piastres with the head and wings of a cherub in the center in the middle of a decoration of palmettes and interlacing. This chest, which originally opened from the top with a flap, was most certainly transformed in the 19th century into a sideboard opening via a large door (the front panel) and revealing a shelf. This piece of furniture is now usable with a fixed top shelf, so it is easier to decorate with a beautiful statue or candlesticks. Period early 18th century. Very heavy piece of furniture, provide help to unload it. Delivery on
