Paul Poiret (1879-1944) Oil on canvas of a landscape Oil on canvas representing a seaside landscape Signed lower left by Paul Poiret Please note traces of restorations on the back of the canvas. Visible at the Courcelles Antiquités Gallery, at 97 rue de Courcelles, in the 17th arrondissement of Paris. Paul Poiret is a great French couturier and perfumer. Known for his audacity, he is considered a precursor of the Art Deco style. He created the fashion house that bears his name in 1903. Beyond these daring creations, he also painted landscapes, particularly in the region of Saint-Tropez because he owned a villa there. The Alexandre Vasiliev Foundation keeps, in addition to clothes and accessories by the fashion house, several paintings by the hand of Paul Poiret, as well as personal effects.
