Description

Large peasant interior scene from the beginning of the 20th century by Eugène Villon, signed lower left.

a mixed technique of gouache and charcoal protected by glass.

all framed by a beautiful wooden frame and gilded stucco in the Regency style.

the scene is remarkable for its realism: the light is diffused in the room thanks to the open window towards the luminous nature.

it is she who brings the intensity to this scene by introducing herself into this modest and dark peasant interior.

thus the shelves filled with objects, the floor, the table with glass carafes come to life, each little detail is then underlined with a luminous line.
