Description

Modern rug in the style of Hériz, hand-knotted in India around 1940.

The many bright colors chosen for this piece are designed to contrast with each other, drawing attention to their shape and composition.
In the center of the rug, a geometric medallion with beautiful floral details shines in the foreground, acting as an anchor for the flowing scene around it.

The horizontal and vertical symmetry of this Indo-Hériz rug is captivating and rare, giving it a balanced feel and supporting the role of the central medallion as the main visual feature of the rug.
