Description

Small bronze sculpture representing a frightened greyhound, entitled "Plock", dated 54, signed PJ Mène *, from the 19th century This sculpture is in good condition. It is signed on the terrace. This is the model of the sculpture entitled Greyhound with a fan (a fan was placed on the base between its legs). A note: wear of time on the bronze, see photos. * Pierre-Jules Mène (1810-1879): the most famous animal sculptor after Barye.

Although very early attracted by the sculpture and the animals, it must to live to practice trades little in relation to its vocation. He made his debut at the Salon in 1838 and quickly became popular. His "Dog strangling a fox" preludes to an infinity of statuettes and groups where the horse holds a preponderant place but where there are also many hunting scenes, stags and hinds, dogs, birds,
