Description

Bronze sculpture from the XVIII XIX century representing a drunken satyr, Silenus. Famous sculpture preserved in the National Archaeological Museum of Naples showing Silenus companion of Dionysus. Here we are in the presence of a bronze from the end of the 18th century or the very beginning of the 19th century with a very beautiful deep period patina. Very beautiful decorative object and collection which will mark by its quality and its touch of classic luxury the originality of your interior. Note the quality of the finesse of the carving which, combined with the depth of the patina, characterizes this beautiful sculpture. Possibility of sending in France and all over the world.
