Description

Bronze sculpture from the art deco period by Paul de Boulongne representing a tambourine dancer. Magnificent sculpture surely representing the great star dancer of the 20s Anna Pavlova whom he often represented. She was considered in her time as the greatest dancer and even had her own international troupe. The careful workmanship with two patinas, the quality of the sculpture and the patina, the yellow marble base creating a contrast, the fun and elegant attitude of the model, the typical art deco hairstyle, all contribute to giving this work an exceptional character. and very decorative. A rare work on the market, it will seduce an enlightened art deco lover as well as an informed collector of Paul de Boulongne. Listed and certified work for this great artist of the end of the 19th century and the
