Description

Long sideboard, in solid and veneered mahogany, dating from the beginning of the 20th century. Made in Paris, it is embellished with a sea green marble top with rounded corners, a projection and a groove. It offers two doors, with molded frames and knockouts, darkened with watered mahogany panels embellished with rosettes and beaded strips. These doors are equipped with an original functional lock, with high/low attachment points, with bronze entries and key. The interior offers a shelf, with grooved mahogany edge, placed on racks. The belt has two recessed drawers fitted with chiseled pull rings in a crown and dressed in beaded rectangles. On each side, two rudentées columns are decorated with bronze compositions of Louis XVI knots, flowers and foliage. The corners of this piece of furniture are curved in a
