Description

Pair of metal bookends depicting swans with a brown patina and copper reflections. With their wings spread and their necks extended, the two birds seem restless. Their open beaks will help keep the books upright. The waterfowl rest on marble pedestals in beige pebble color, with pink veins. Bookends, objects that are both useful and decorative, are a nice way to personalize your shelves. These will be appreciated for the symbolism of purity and elegance associated with the swan.  Period: 1930/1940 Perfect condition Delivery possible by Colissimo with careful packaging and suitable protection
