Description

A charming subject in polychrome terracotta representing three little girls discussing on a bench and entitled "a project" by Salesio. it is a lovely terracotta in the style of Goldscheider, dating from the end of the 19th century beginning of the 20th century. it is in very good condition even if it seems that there were some old restorations in the 20th century but which are almost invisible. the three little girls busy chatting on a bench, a charming theme. the artist was able to restore attitudes specific to childhood: the delighted faces of children sharing a secret, their legs outstretched on the bench, etc... a small brass plate on the front with the title and name of the artist.
