Description

Following the fashion for animal bronze brought up to date by the Art Deco movement, this charming sea lion is lounging on a rock. The expression of this mammal is perfectly captured: the lines of its fine head, dense mustache and its webbed limbs are brushed in a minimalist and yet very lively way. The patina of the bronze gives the body shades of fur. This animal moving between land and sea will undoubtedly find its place in your home, where it will have plenty of time to observe, from its rock, the hectic life of humans!

This little bronze is in perfect condition.
