Description

Brussels Tapestry After Teniers from the beginning of the 18th century Very beautiful tapestry describing a village scene at the end of the 17th century / beginning of the 18th century superb quality of execution with a tapestry entirely in quarter point (small knots) and a enormous attention to detail where each character has a different expression, shadows in the clothes. The characters have a good size (not too big, not too small which is rare) and increase the rareness of the tapestry The Teniers tapestries are highly sought after since the subject differs from the normal subjects as verdure and mythological scene that we often find in very good condition and has kept superb colors. The tapestry is ready to be put directly in an interior. Very beautiful tones of red and blue Beautiful perspectives The
