painter Joseph Stallaert (1895-1901). He went to Paris to perfect his skills where he worked under French painters Alexander Cabanel and Léon Bonnat. He was influenced by Paul Flaubert, Symbolism and Orientalism.

Baes debuted in academic style most likely under influence of his master teachers, but would later find his true mastery and achieves success as a fashionable Impressionist painter of female figures and nudes.

Exhibits in Paris and Brussels 'Princesse d'Amour' gallery Le Roy.

He wrote 'Les dieux stadiques', 'Princesse d'Amour' and 'Etudes de femmes'. Iconography fame fatale (Salome, Messaline, Cléopâtre).

He was a member of the jury Miss France 1936.

He died in Paris on 1953. Today his paintings can be found in private and public collections including the Brussels Museum of Fine Art.
