Description

Rectangular stepped pendulum, in gilt bronze, dating from the beginning of the 19th century.

This timepiece features a goddess, scepter in hand and raising a tambourine. She is accompanied by a lyre, a pan flute, a vase topped with a garland and an arrow. The dial, white enamel and graduated in Roman numerals, is underlined by a crown and floral motifs. The base, delicately carved, illustrates an angel and a woman fighting against large insects using torches. The set rests on four feet decorated with scrolls and flowers.

This clock will please for its size and the delicacy of its work.  Period: Early 19th century
