Description

Lighthouse night light circa 1930. The combination of cubism and modernism recalls the shape of a lighthouse. The glassware rests on a button and straight lines typical of the Art Deco period. The conical jamb, also with cut sides, follows the geometry of the glass. This thickness of the glass and the bakelite material assembled by threading enhance this rare model. Beautiful period conservation. Screw bulb (15W). Revised electricity. Possible delivery not included in the price.
