Description

La Poterie de la Madeleine is a French family business in the Gard, with roots dating back to 1782. Each pot bears garlands and the family crests, as can be seen in the photos. This pair originates from the end of the 19th century and despite their age, the pots are very well preserved, with the exception of the foot. Despite the damage to the bottom, the pots are very stable and can be used as such. Restoration of the foot is possible and would cost around EUR450/pot
