Description

Lovely Louis XV style screen in carved and gilded wood. The attraction of this screen is that it is very high, 2 meters and can therefore be easily integrated into a beautiful interior. It opens with 3 glazed shutters in the upper part and with removable wooden panels lined with floral silk on one side and plain on the other. Beautiful sculpture of flowers in the pediment of the panels. This screen is presented to you in its original condition, with some gilding, re-gluing in the pediments and plain fabric of the sunlit reverse and therefore showing traces of the frames that had been hung on the reverse and a chip on the side of a glass (see photo) This is a very decorative screen that is out of the ordinary because of its height. Napoleon III period around 1860. Delivery by carrier in the DRC in front of
