Description

Sperbe and elegant pair of 20th century armchairs by Florence KNOLL for KNOLL. They rest on a square chrome metal base and are covered with fabrics and padded cushions. The Florence Knoll armchair is a translation of the rhythm and proportions of modern architecture from the mid-20th century. With a geometric and free profile, an expression of the rational approach to design that Florence Knoll learned from her mentor, Mies van der Rohe, the armchair is absolutely modern and absolutely timeless. This pair of very comfortable armchairs is in its original condition with period fabrics, very slight wear on one of the 2. Rare model in this condition.
