Description

Large and wide Regency style high-backed armchair, superb manufacture from the end of the 18th century or the very beginning of the 19th century. Our seat has a wide and comfortable seat, the high backrest provides good back support. Graceful sculpture work moving around the perimeter of the belt, feet finished with a beautiful winding work, pretty "whiplash" at the level of the armrests. This armchair is in very good house condition, usual restorations have been carried out (see photos) in particular at the level of the back of the top of the backrest. Old traces of seeds are visible at the base of the armrests. The covering fabric is in looped velvet with floral decoration, it is in good condition but a trace of wear is clearly visible at the front of the seat (see last photo), it fortunately blends in quite
