Description

ARCHES and PASSAGES

Composed of old building stones or made of natural stones such as sandstone from Morvan, granite from Brittany or even shale from our mountains, all you need is an imagination that goes beyond the beaten track to compose the break between two gardens , between two worlds.

Preserving an exceptional place beyond a romantic arch is only a bit of know-how and the expert hand of a talented mason.

The art of this construction posing a hiatus between the ornamental garden and the vegetable garden for example, lies in the judicious choice of the composition of the volume in harmony with the whole and the technique of an assembly which turns out to be more delicate. that it seems.
