Description

We present this buffet with two bodies with withdrawal in Neo Renaissance walnut around 1880/1900 very richly worked. On each door the seasons are represented, twisted columns in each corner, the ball feet as well as the lower cornice are also very sculpted. The upper body has a drawer in its lower part and two drawers on the lower body. Locks and keys are original. On the upper sideboard there is a triangular pediment with in the center a niche supporting a statuette, the one we provide is in fact modern and made of resin and four sculptures, two of which represent lions and the others winged horses. Beautiful piece of furniture, good quality of execution for a traditional piece of furniture. Furniture to be taken on site. (E23)
