became a member of the Salon d'Automne, vice-president of the National Society of Fine Arts, member of the advisory commission of fine arts of the city of Paris and member of the Latin Lands committee.

As much as his painting work is figurative (the critic Chabanon classified him among the expressionist realists), his monumental work as a sculptor is abstract.

His paintings are present in state collections and museums, both in France and abroad. He is a Commander in the Order of Academic Palms, an Officer in the National Order of Merit, a Knight in the Order of the Legion of Honor, a Knight in the Order of Arts and Letters, and received the gold medal of the city of Paris, the Eugène Bourdin prize, the laurel of Terres latines, the medal of the Society of Artists of Haute Corrèze. In 1969, FLEURY Camille took over the management of the National School of Applied Arts and Crafts.

He retired as headmaster, certified teacher in 1979.
