Description

We present this sumptuous pitcher in fine porcelain, probably German (Saxony), decorated with flowers on all sides. The edges of the neck, the spout as well as the handle and the heel are decorated with gilding. I hope I am not wrong about the attribution, now it could well be French from our country but in this case I would happily think it from the end of the 18th century. I am waiting for you lovers or collectors of fine porcelain to enlighten me and I thank you in advance. (E23) Ref. Yb370
