Description

Very important painting representing the La Glane river crossing an undergrowth. This oil on canvas was produced near the Corot site around Limoges in Haute-Vienne near Saint-Junien. This place was named in homage to the pre-impressionist painter Jean Baptiste Corot (1796-1875) who loved this place very much and who found a source of inspiration there. He used to come there as a painter around the 1850s. This landscape is signed lower left by the artist L. Dubois, and monogrammed MOF for Meilleur Ouvrier de France. In fact he was also a porcelain decorator and master enameler. Our oil on canvas is sold with its carved wooden frame and waxed patina. Dimensions: frame: 163 cm
