Description

Jacques Coquillay Official Painter of the Navy Amsterdam Pastel 65x65cm Work sold framed (additional photographs on request) Jacques Coquillay was born on June 3, 1935 in the Loire Valley. He developed a passion for drawing from the age of ten, a passion which he continued during his schooling at the Ecole des Beaux-Arts in Tours and then at the Beaux-Arts in Paris. At the end of his studies, at the end of which he obtained the National Diploma in Sculpture and a Higher Diploma in Plastic Arts, he specialized in two very different techniques: pastel and sculpture. He subsequently met Jean Carton, Georges Hilbert and Raimond Martin with whom he formed a group of young sculptors under the expert eye of Paul Belmondo. For his works, Jacques Coquillay has received numerous awards.
