Description

This light mahogany office armchair has two covered legs at the front, decorated with busts of caryatids and palmettes, ending in lion claw legs and two saber legs at the back. A vibrant belt at the front and rounded at the back connects these elements. This is squared at the corners. The concave-shaped back part, made up of two wooden elements, is recessed towards the front. There is a brass rosette on the tips of the front legs. A vertical element resting on the rear belt supports the backrest part. A bronze eagle is applied to its facade. The seat in excellent condition is made up of straps, springs and covered in raspberry red leather studded around the edge. The beauty of its essence and its warm color make this Return from Egypt style armchair an ideal companion for your office. *****
