Description

Gifted self-taught painter, native of Beaujolais where he created paintings, watercolors, Indian ink, charcoal... to the point of becoming in the 70s/80s the major painter of Beaujolais. Through his books, illustrations, multiple exhibitions, he is also the initiator of the tourist information and tourist trail in the region. He did a lot for the knowledge of the Beaujolais region. We also owe him the famous landscapes of the 12 Beaujolais crus in the fresco room at 210 Bd Vermorel in Villefranche sur Saône. The watercolor framed in golden baguette and marquise by Henry GRISOT represents the alley with sloping stairs in TREVOUX in Ain (Rhône Alpes Auvergne) called "la Rue Casse-cou", signed lower right and at the back of the painting, the frame is in used condition.
