Description

Transitional period chest of drawers. The part includes fluted marquetry (with original shading). The fern motif is framed in boxwood and ebony, all topped with cross-grain. The sides have the same quality as the face. The cut corners also rest on fillets. The covered feet are inlaid with the same decoration. The balance between the frame and the jamb is harmonious. The projecting shape is repeated right down to the original marble. The drawers have also been revised. Possible delivery not included in the price
