Description

Small display case containing a diorama, composed of a painted wooden sailboat sailing on a sea in composition off the coast of a lighthouse at the end of a cape painted on the bottom of the box. This popular art object was made at the beginning of the century and has never been opened since. It is in its original condition, perfectly preserved. All the sailboat ropes are in place. It must have been illuminating because a wire comes out of the box with a red art deco bakelite switch. He is strictly in his own juice.
