Description

Rustic Quercynoise tale 17th. It is made of oak (the 4 legs and the belts) and walnut (the top and the spacer) and comes from the north of the Lot. It has a rounded top and a large drawer on the front. This country table is rustic in construction, which gives it its moving side. The top shows some wear and tear over time; the middle spacer bears the wear and tear of multiple shoes or hooves that have rubbed against it. the table is all original with tiny restorations. This type of table, due to its rustic appearance, is more difficult to find than a more elaborate table from the same period. Dimensions: Tray 111.5 x 77 cm / Height 75 cm
