Description

This remarkable Felipe V style writing desk is a true masterpiece of carpentry. It captivates with its graceful design and meticulous craftsmanship. The piece, with its hinged lid and front, was crafted in the rich, warm woods of walnut and rosewood. What sets this piece apart is the intricate geometric decoration, finely inlaid into fruit woods, creating a captivating visual contrast. The details are simply stunning: delicately crafted bone inlays on the ebonized wood sides and legs, adding a touch of refinement and sophistication. The ebonizing enhances the depth and texture of the wood, adding an extra dimension of elegance to this piece. Originating in Spain and dating from the late 17th century, this writing desk embodies the opulence and style of the era. Measuring 84x87x130 cm, it takes pride of place
