Sketch for a painting representing the hunting of the Count of Tyrol. The painting is annotated on the back of its frame and specifies the name of the author. The box also has a number 12 on the back, which could be an inventory number. The author, Louis Robert Heyrault, specializes in hunting scenes under the Second Empire, one of these paintings is in the Château de Compiègne. The painting is framed in a wooden frame with a gilded Mecca marie-louis. Without frame, it measures 35x27 cm. Cleaning would restore its original shine.
