Description

Superb carved wooden head, decorated with a laurel wreath in the middle of stylized foliage. 18th century. We may be tempted to see Christ or a saint there... Its astonishing particularity lies in its pouring mouth, covered with lead, which gives it the identity of a fountain or another function of this type. To be linked to its console or wall light structure... Some traces of old polychromy. One-piece structure with wood split in places. Quick and neat delivery. Preference for payment by check or transfer.
