Description

Burgundian paving stone from the 16th century from the Tonnerre region in Yonne
Lot of 30 m2 which can be expanded at will by adding all surfaces by mixing several lots of the same origin.

Without any maintenance apart from regular washing.

No need for wax or protective product.

The hardness of the stone is sufficient to protect it from the risk of stains, oil, wine, etc.

Ideal for underfloor heating.

Lot provided for installation in Roman Opus

Possibility of retrenchment at 3 cm thickness in order to facilitate implementation and keep only the upper crust marked by 3 or 4 centuries of our history.

In our opinion, apart from the Italian Carrara
