Description

A rare Japanese Imari porcelain sand pot with French gilded bronze mounts which are all still there and in good condition after around 300 years! These are called "pounce pots" or "sanders" in English and were used to dispense sand on wet ink to dry it. Japanese porcelain of this era (first half of the 1700's) was rare and very, very expensive in Europe at that time and the only patrons were Royalty, Aristocracy and the very wealthy.

Period - first half 18th century

Condition - Good condition

Measurement - Height 15.5 cm
