Two Paris porcelain pots with the inscriptions "POM: ANTI-SPOR" and "PULP TAMAR" framed by a truncated column surrounded by ivy and a plant resembling a banana tree on which a snake coils next to a flowering plant . Two large gold threads outline the base and a large gold thread surrounds the lid topped with a golden fret. The printed mark "Glassware, Crystals, Porcelain, J FONTEMOING &L PEIGNEY, 13 rue de l'Odéon in Paris" is located under each of the pots.

Paris, France Louis-Philippe period (1830-1848)

Good general condition.

NB: These pots, in good condition, are very decorative with this slightly exotic decor which refers to pharmacy and Antiquity. The broken
