Description

This table could be attributed to René Prou and Max Ingrand in collaboration. We don't know for sure, but we are very close to the techniques used by these two creators. The base in particular which is worked, patinated typical of René Prou. The plate is of great quality, it is thick glass with bird inclusions and floral decoration. As for the condition, note that the glass does not present any significant accidents, we point out some gaps and stains in the polychromy. This table is natural, it has been preserved by time. René Prou (1887-1947), interior designer and decorator, is a central figure in the Art Deco movement. Max Ingrand (1908-1969) is a French master glassmaker and decorator, one of the most renowned of the post-war period along with Pierre Lardin and Robert Pansart. We will not
