Description

Very beautiful inkwell, in bronze, resting on a circular pedestal, decorated with a frieze of palmettes on the edge. The body, with double large shells, is fit on the sides with two places for feathers, and accommodates the ceramic inkwell, protected by a bronze cover, with a thumb piece in the shape of an exploded flower. Antique item, great quality, very heavy and very present in hand.

Excellent condition, the item has just been found, and will need to be cleaned for a more beautiful shine.

European working, most probably French, dating from the restoration period, Circa 1830.
