Description
-------------

Oil on canvas representing a still life. The free association of fruits (Peaches and Grapes), vegetables (Asparagus), Mushrooms and Wallflowers coming out of a wicker basket is a pretext to celebrate the pleasure of the senses, without worrying about the temporality of the seasons.

The painter probably represents what he likes the most, to paint or to eat, to see and to smell...

Oil on canvas signed lower left "Louis GIBERT", in its rich original stuccoed wooden frame gilded with leaf.

The Louis XVI Style framing takes up the vocabulary of this style, alternating flower strips, pearls, acanthus leaves and laurel garland.

This type of frame, popular in the salons of the
