

Oryx (138cm) Antelope / Gazelle Hunting Trophy, Cape Head, Taxidermy

1 850 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Parfait état

Material : Leather

Width : 38

Height : 138

Depth : 80

Description

Large hunting trophy called "caped head" of an Oryx (138cm high).

Beautiful achievement, impressive and very chic!

Very good condition, very clean, easy to place (inner wooden support with metal frame, all weighing 8kg), removable horns for easy transport (see photo).

Old taxidermy brought from Africa before 1950.

Period: Before 1950.

Country of Origin: Africa.

Dimensions (H x W x D): 138 x 38 x 80 cm.

Weight: 8 Kg.

Condition: Excellent.

Delivery in Belgium: EUR50.

Other delivery: Price on request.

Dealer

Galerie Pignolet

20th century objects and furniture

Mobile : 0032 498 295 815

53 Chaussée de Waterloo

Namur 5000

Oryx:

Kind of gazelle or antelope of the Bovidae family living in Africa especially in the savannah, as well as in the Arabian Peninsula, where they had disappeared before being reintroduced. Oryx are typically recognized by their long, thin, straight, backward-pointing horns, relatively short mane, shoulder hump, and large hooves. Their coat is fine, white and has black, gray and/or brown markings. Both sexes wear horns. They have a height at the withers of 81 to 120 cm and a body mass of 65 to 200 kg. Their horns measure between 38 and 127 cm. Its name is often confused with Okapi for reasons of graphic appearance and head color. The okapi is the only species of the Okapia genus and one of the last five species of the giraffidae family (giraffe, etc.).