Description

Splendid library dating back to the late 18th or early 19th century, characterized by a rich artistic style typical of church and convent furnishings. The piece of furniture features particular attention to the carved and gilded details that adorn the side pillars and the cymatium of the piece of furniture.

The detailed workmanship and gilding suggest an intended use in ecclesiastical contexts, such as a pharmacy or convent bookshop. The bookcase not only stands out for its aesthetic beauty, but also for its ergonomic functionality, being spacious and ideal for storing books and objects of various kinds.

The geographical location of the bookshop appears to be linked to the Italian regions of
