Description

Magnificent dining room table in Rio rosewood veneer and sycamore, attributed to the famous French designer Jules Leleu (1883 - 1961). The top of this table has diamond marquetry surrounding a floral composition made of different types of wood decorated with mother-of-pearl. A beautiful rosewood veneer surface is highlighted by two lively shaped lemon tree fillets. This table allows the installation of extensions on its sides. Transforming this table of 10 people into a table of 14 guests. The scrolled belt rests on a double pedestal sheathed with brass rings. With its precious wood species and its refined shape, this table attributed to J. Leleu has benefited from remarkable design work.
