Description

Superb and large Etruscan head, not broken or glued back together, without subsequent restoration, in perfect original condition, with some cracks on the surface of the terracotta, very thick, which is normal given the natural fragility of the terracotta and its very great antiquity, which has remained intact since that time.

Estimated to be in the fourth - third century BC by a certificate of age by thermoluminescence of which we attach the photo. We have kept this object in our collection for a very long time, the laboratory which carried out this test having ceased its activity. We obviously guarantee this object as from the Etruscan period and accept all new tests and expertise at your expense at your convenience. Height with base: 32 cm Height of the head alone: 24 cm Width of the head: 15 cm
