Description

An exquisite antique mid 19th century Dutch cabinet or cupboard in the renaissance style, crafted from the finest rosewood veneers on solid oak. Molded top cornice, above a frieze of three carved lion masks, the two central doors with deep panels with original key and working lock, opening to reveal a shelved interior with a pair of drawers, flanked by in high relief grape and vine carvings, above a pair of drawers, standing on two front bun feet. These cabinets served functional purposes and doubled as works of art, safeguarding valuable possessions such as linens and silverware. Superb quality with a lovely warm patina to the rosewood.
